Peel Living Third Party Authorization

Questions & Answers (Q&A)

What is this form for?

Personal information about you, the benefits you receive and the program you participate in is confidential. We need your signed consent if you want Peel Living to communicate with another person (such as your spouse, partner, other family member, friend, agency representative or other) regarding your tenancy.

Your signed consent allows us to communicate confidential information to your authorized person and allows him/her to communicate with us on your behalf. This consent will stay in effect until you withdraw your consent.

What will the authorized person be allowed to do on my behalf?

When you give your signed consent to Peel Living to communicate with your authorized person, you are letting that person provide and receive information regarding your tenancy.

What is the authorized person not allowed to do on my behalf?

This consent form does not provide authority to the authorized person to make changes related to your tenancy.
